

Enterprise Solutions streamlines job costing at this environmental-services company

Moving up to Enterprise Solutions helps BEST maintain competitive pricing while offering superior service.

Advancing to QuickBooks Enterprise Solutions. “We’ve always used QuickBooks, but recently upgraded to QuickBooks Enterprise Solutions because of its sophisticated features and the ability to really integrate our bookkeeping processes,” says Debbie Joyner, Office Manager at BEST (Business Environmental Systems Testing). Though BEST employs 19 people, Joyner is the only user of the software.

“QuickBooks Enterprise Solutions has been incredibly valuable for us with its job-costing capabilities, allowing us to keep track of staff hours and the mileage involved for each job.”

– Debbie Joyner, Office Manager, BEST

Founded in 1995, BEST provides systems balance testing and adjusting services for new and existing commercial buildings in the Eastern U.S. BEST is committed to staying on-schedule and on-budget for all jobs, providing the highest level of service, and maintaining competitively low prices.

Superior job-costing capabilities. “QBES has been incredibly valuable for us with its job-costing capabilities, allowing us to keep track of staff hours and the mileage involved for each job,” Joyner explains. “It really helps us monitor job progress as well as stay within budget – which is really important when we’re working as a subcontractor and often on government job sites.”

Joyner also lauds the software’s reporting features: “We’re able to maintain all our bookkeeping data in a central location, so it’s really easy to generate the reports we need at tax time.”

Easing estimates and payroll. Joyner loves how easy it is to bring financial information into QBES, regardless of the source. She adds, “We have a really clear picture of not only existing job progress and how much budget we have to work with, but the company’s overall financial picture, as well.”
