

Nitropod

An entrepreneur with a cool idea launches his dream.

Scot Rubin worked in the corporate world for years, but always knew he wanted to take the leap and start something incredibly unique and undeniably fun. With Nitropod, he's done it.

Scot creates on-demand flash-frozen organic ice cream and sorbets, using a patented liquid nitrogen mixing unit. At -321 degrees, the nitrogen freezes the ice cream in a matter of seconds, and creates a delicious taste unlike any other.

Scot loves being a mobile business, as he takes Nitropod on the road to events and clients. "The best part of running my business is the freedom to take strategic risks". When it comes to QuickBooks, Scot loves how it fits into how he runs his business. "If you want an organic way to manage the finances of your business within your normal workflow, I would definitely recommend it".
